

When Faith Andersen agrees to join a retreat at the Crazy Creek Guest Ranch for a weekend of horseback riding, barbecues, and fellowship, she thinks her biggest problem will be rekindling her romance with the handsome pastor of Desert Water Christian Church—until the ranch foreman is found murdered, and the primary suspect is her best friend’s husband. With an ex-wife and a child to support, John Menard is reluctant to pursue Faith on a pastor’s salary. The retreat might be a good time to find some time alone with her, a chance to break it off, before they’re too involved to turn back. In the heat of the Arizona summer, there aren’t many guests—and fewer staff—at the ranch. A flirty young woman on her way to graduate school who doesn’t seem to fit the rough and tumble atmosphere. An aging television star trying to revive her career with a western series. Her furtive young male companion. The ne’er-do-well son of the ranch’s housekeeper and handyman. And, of course, the members of the church. Cut off from civilization by monsoon flooding, law enforcement is unable to reach the ranch to investigate the murder. With a psychopathic killer on the loose, Faith and John are compelled to join forces to hunt down the murderer. But can they identify the culprit before he—or she—claims another victim?
