You will also learn how to program and customize workflows to transform JIRA into a user-friendly system. With so much data spanning across different projects, issues, and so on (and a lot of planning done for the project), we will cover how to work on reports and gadgets to get customized data according to our needs. We will then explore customizing the various search aspects of JIRA such as JQL, searching in plugins, managing filters, and so on. This book will emphasize programming issues, such as creating, editing, and deleting issues; creating new issue operations; managing the various other operations available on issues via JIRA APIs; and so on. At the end of the book, you will learn how to customize JIRA by adding new tabs, menus, and web items; communicate with JIRA via the REST, SOAP, or XML/RPC interfaces; and work with the JIRA database.
