They were just too strong... It started out as a normal day. I had just left the nail salon and I was driving back home. However, as soon as I pull onto the highway, I notice that my car is making a terrible noise. With my husband out of town, theres nobody that can help me besides the local car shop. My car barely makes it to the shop and as soon as I step inside, I notice the four muscular mechanics staring me down. Mikey, the manager, says he can fix my car for a price. But its not dollar bills that hes interested in. He wants my body. And so do all of the other mechanics in the shop. Will I let these four muscular men take control of me, hard and without protection, in order to get my car up and running again? Or do I really have a choice? This 7500-word story features four younger, muscular men taking control of a beautiful middle aged woman.
