

Situational Hazard

Prince Kwasi Mensah uses the accidental and incidental in Situational Hazard. With the unpredictability of the human existence in mind, this poet crafts an intricate web of poetry which dissects and discusses the probabilities of life. There is a solid sense of being in this book of poetry spans through poems such as Metropolis (a poem about mankind and civilization), Birth Pangs of Anger (a poem about being stuck) and Whispers of a Loved One (a poem about relationships). Situational Hazard is a triumph of poetry pulled off by a poet who is going places with the written word. It is a splendid example of a mind that leaves nothing off the table.
